

This is to inform you that I do not think the FCC should implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law protection. Before Indiana implemented the privacy law protection, we were getting 10 - 12 calls per week and now we only get one. I feel the old adage, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it" is applicable in our situation. In addition, I do not think the FCC should infringe any states' rights. Thank you for your consideration and the opportunity to comment.
